Commercial Sales Division

Our Commercial Sales Division, with over thirty years of commercial market experience, is a major entity in the aluminum window, curtainwall, storefront, entrance door and skylight market. We continue to expand beyond the New England area.

We employ our own experienced licensed installation personnel, engineers and project managers. All our work is insured and bonded. All projects are completed in conjunction with the Owner, Construction Manager, Developer, General Contractor, Architect and Engineer, from the initial design through project completion. At Lockheed Window Corp. we have established long standing business partnerships with nationally recognized window, curtainwall, storefront, entrance door and skylight manufacturers for products we do not manufacture.

The majority of our projects are schools, colleges, hospitals, public/private housing complexes, condominiums, office complexes, detention facilities and federal buildings throughout the country. All contracts are secured either through design build proposals, negotiated bid or competitive bids.

The benefits of high performing windows include: cooling and heating savings, improved daylight and view, enhanced comfort, reduced condensation and reduced fading. Lockheed Window Corp. is a proud partner of ENERGY STAR®, which is the standard that represents the highest quality and most energy efficient products in the industry. All of Lockheed's vinyl window and door systems with Low E glass and/or Low E glass/Argon gas are independently tested and independently certified to meet and exceed ENERGY STAR® standards. A multitude of options are available in each window and door line which allows the end user to customize our products to fulfill specific needs and to accommodate their individual design.
